

NILE MA

MA in Professional Development for
Language Education

'It gave me the confidence to achieve what I wanted to do'

NILE has twenty years' experience in offering an MA in Professional Development for Language Education. In that time, hundreds of teachers and trainers have seen their careers develop and their personal success improve as a result of the course.

'Since I did my first degree, much has changed'

Like the world around us, language education changes rapidly. The MA will bring you up to date on the latest developments in the field and look at how they are relevant to your teaching and training.

'I'm a busy teacher, so the flexibility it offered was invaluable'

Many of us can't take a year out to study. The NILE MA gives you the chance to study at your own speed for up to six years with a mix of face-to-face, online and blended learning. You can join intensive face-to-face modules in the UK or at one of our accredited centres in Argentina, Brazil, Mexico, Uruguay and Switzerland or you can choose to study MA modules online. The modular structure of the programme also allows you to spread the cost to suit your circumstances.

'The content gave me insight and perspective'

The MA has a core module focusing on language, teaching and learning and a choice of nine elective modules allowing you to choose what is most relevant to your personal interests and professional context. The MA is completed with a dissertation, offering you the opportunity to conduct in-depth research in an area of particular professional interest.

'Working with experts in the field was an invaluable experience'

You will work closely with a tutor from NILE's world-renowned team, who have all published and spoken widely about their specialisms. The MA is validated by the University of Chichester to ensure high academic standards.

'My perception of online courses has changed'

NILE's online courses provide simple tools and a user-friendly platform, promoting interaction between international participants and the tutor to recreate a real-life classroom experience. Through NILE Online you will also have access to extensive online ELT resources, regardless of your place or mode of study.

'My Delta qualification counted towards my MA'

NILE acknowledges Recognition of Prior Learning, exempting some candidates from the core or an elective module.

'I could see the change in my approach'
