

Norwich

'It's one of the friendliest places I've visited!'

NILE has run teacher development programmes in Norwich for more than 20 years. The largest city in the East of England, Norwich has the feel of a small town while offering everything a big city can. Norwich is only two hours from London and is easily accessible by rail, road or plane. NILE's state-of-the art campus is a few minutes' walk from the city centre.

'It has so much history'

The Norwich skyline is dominated by the spires of its two cathedrals (the older dating back nearly a thousand years) and many churches, as well as that of its Norman castle. All these are connected by narrow cobbled streets ranging from medieval to Georgian and filled with shops, cafés and several museums and galleries.

'I love the shopping!'

From big-name stores to charming independent shops, Norwich offers shopping opportunities for all pockets. Smaller shops line the elegant Royal Arcade and the offbeat Lanes, while the Chapelfield Mall houses over fifty international stores.

'The Market and the Lanes were great for food'

Norwich is in Norfolk, one of England's agricultural heartlands, and the local produce can be sampled in the city's many cafés and restaurants. These range from stalls selling fresh cheese, fish or locally-made ice cream in the Market, to top-end restaurants around the Lanes. There is also a great range of Indian, Thai, Chinese and middle eastern places to eat.

'We enjoyed the live music and the pubs!'

Legend has it that Norwich once had 365 pubs, one for each day of the year! The city is well known for its great beers and friendly pubs, many of which have live music one or two nights a week. In addition, venues such as Norwich Arts Centre and The Waterfront offer a wide range of live music, dance and theatre.

'A trip to the coast and the Broads was the highlight of my stay'

The nearby Norfolk Broads is a unique system of lakes and waterways. You can spend a pleasant day on a boat, slowly sailing through the beautiful countryside, or head as far as the spectacular north Norfolk coast, famous for its wide beaches, pretty towns and great wildlife-spotting opportunities.

'Staying with a family in an English-speaking environment helped me improve my language so much'

In Norwich you'll have the choice of homestay or residential accommodation. Whichever you choose, you will have an opportunity to be a cultural participant in the everyday life of an English city.
